Shrewsbury
7.30 p.m.

 STAR

Haydn Recital

Variations in F minor, H.XVII:6
Sonata in C minor, H.XVI:20
Sonata in D, H.XVI:42
Sonata in G, H.XVI:40
Sonata in E flat, H.XVI:52

Only recently acknowledged as one of the pinnacles of classical keyboard music, the variety and subtleties of Haydn's extensive piano sonata repertoire beggars description and encompasses every conceivable musical and emotional dimension.

Andrew Wilde has rapidly emerged as one of the most outstanding British artists of his generation, winning numerous major international piano competitions and collecting enviably impressive reviews - not least for his latest CD release, an all Haydn disc for Collins Classics. "I couldn't have hoped for a better introduction than Andrew Wilde's exquisitely drawn performances you have a disc that couldn't be bettered" CD of the Month, Classic CD "... greatness and brilliance, supported by an inborn musicality and magnificent pianistic precision" The Times

"1690's for the 1990's"

Buxtehude, Couperin, Muffat, St Colombe, Corelli, Purcell

Don't miss this early music "all-star" ensemble on a special tour. All major international figures on the authentic scene, they first came together to record all the instrumental chamber music of Buxtehude and immediately won the 1994 Classical Recording Grammy.

Each soloist/director with most of the major authentic groups such as the London Classical Players, Taverner Players and Academy of Ancient Music, they play and record with all the eminent early music figures such as Emma Kirkby, Gustav Leonhardt and Ton Koopman.

 Furrows for Ford

Friends and colleagues as well as distinguished soloists, this is a chance to hear the special music-making that comes from such an international collaboration.

"The best performance (of Vivaldi's "Four Seasons") I have ever heard ... demands a rethinking of performance styles in our time" New York Times

"... breathtaking technical virtuosity ... opens up visionary perspectives" The Gramophone

ENSEMBLE BASH

"Utterly compelling, rejuvenating, electrifying" The Guardian - Catch Ensemble Bash on their U.K. Tour and see what all the fuss is about. Hugely popular and highly entertaining they move from subtle Japanese lyricism to the mesmerising spell of African dance rhythms accompanied by a thousand chorusing bullfrogs, and from arrangements of Bach and the Beatles to funky jazz - all presented with a slick and theatrical flair.

Playing works from their latest Sony Classical CD they transcend all the usual so-called musical "barriers" creating an immediate visual appeal and a succession of stunning aural experiences.

"But for naked rhythmic power it would be difficult to out-do the Senegalese circumcision dance, whose driving, hypnotic beat set the show on the road" The Times

BIRMINGHAM CONTEMPORARY MUSIC GROUP & MOTIONHOUSE DANCE THEATRE in: 'Delicate'

Devised by Motionhouse Dance Theatre
Music by Howard Skempton

Following BCMG'S hugely successful collaboration last season with Trestle Theatre Company premiered in Shrewsbury, they now join forces with award-winning Motionhouse in a ravishing new piece of dance theatre - a compelling and passionate evocation of the pull between propriety and desire.

Fabulous dancing set in a luscious tapestry of cello music and barbed, piquant short-stories (by Somerset Maugham Award-winner, A. L. Kennedy) - 'Delicate' explores what holds us together and what pulls us apart.

INSTANT SUNSHINE

An opportunity to see this zany and talented group of fine musicians and excellent wits with their own brand of musical humour. They have released hundreds of their highly successful songs on hilarious recordings and perform regularly on radio and TV from their own series 'Jackanory and Stop the Week, as well as writing for groups such as the Kings Singers - but it is only in their live concerts that their talents are fully appreciated. A cross between Flanders and Swann and Spitting Image with hints of Gilbert & Sullivan and Noel Coward and a touch of Joyce Grenfell - they are uniquely British, timeless and irresistible.
